Making Good.

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good;" and Doctor Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards.

A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no hocus-pocus humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may possibly make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for.

Don't buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for woman's special ailments. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago. As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine it is unequaled. It won't satisfy those who want "booze," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy—one to three a dose. Much imitated but never equaled.

A HUSBAND'S REVENGE.

James Frady, of Limestone, N. C, Tuesday night fired five bullets into Farris Summer, his intimate friend and next-door neighbor, whom he surprised in company with Mrs. Frady, who fled as her husband fired at her. Frady walked ten miles to Asheville, woke the jailer at midnight, said he had killed a man and requested to be locked up.

Frady, according to the story he told the officials, was away from home Tuesday afternoon, returning unexpectedly early in the evening.

Upon entering the house he found his wife and Summer in a room together, and immediately began shooting, his object, he says, being to kill both the friend who had wrecked his home and the wife who had betrayed him. The first shot entered Summer's right lung, another pierced the abdomen, and a third struck him in the right shoulder. Screaming in fear, Mrs. Frady ran from the house, as her husband fired at her. Thinking he had killed Summer, Frady started for Asheville to surrender. The "unwritten law" will be his defense.

Summer, who was found by members of his family, who had heard the shooting, was taken to George W. Vanderbilt's hospital, at Biltmore, and attending physicians last night stated that he had about an even chance for his life.

Summer was formerly a deputy sheriff of Buncombe county, and both men were considered among the most substantial residents of the town.

PISTOL BATTLE.

As a result of a pistol battle in a darkened bed room at the home of Thomas Nichols, at Shawnee, Okla., three men were shot, two of whom will die. Further bloodshed was prevented by the heroism of Miss Bessie Nichols, sixteen years old, who threw herself between two of the combatants.

Charles Nichols and Joe McClutchs were placed under arrest.

At a country dance near Kiowa Tuesday night an altercation occurred between members of the McClutchs and Nichols families, who attended. There was a personal encounter, but it was stopped quickly before any one was badly hurt.

After the dance Charles Nichols went home, accompanied by a friend. Some time after retiring Nichols and his friend were aroused by some one entering the room.

They seized their guns and opened fire, the shots being returned. Thomas Nichols, father of the young host, rushed into the room armed, and the shooting became general.

Regardless of the bullets, Miss Bessie, Charles Nichols' sixt-en-year-old sister, followed her father, sprang between two of the men, and knocked up one weapon, saving her brother's life.

Do not Crowd the Season.

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilarating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid-winter, as there is more danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

Kodol is today the best known remedy for all disorders of the stomach, such as dyspepsia, heartburn, sour stomach and belching of gas. Sold here by W. F. Creighton & Co.

RACE RIOT.

The replacing of negro labor with Greeks by the Interstate Cooperage Company at Belhaven, in the extreme eastern section of North Carolina, led to a race riot late Tuesday night. The Greeks occupied houses on the company's property, and about sixty negroes, well armed, attacked the foreigners about midnight and drove them to a neighboring swamp. The Greeks were unarmed and offered practically no resistance. Five of the Greeks are reported to be fatally wounded.

Belhaven is a village without police protection, and yesterday the authorities of Beaufort county appealed to the governor for military protection. Acting under the chief executive's orders, the Washington Light Infantry, of Charlotte, was ordered to the scene. More trouble was expected last night, but owing to the inaccessibility of Belhaven communication was impossible last night.

Predicts Democratic Success.

Chicago, Mar. 12.—"Democracy is on the eve of a national victory. Bryan will be the nominee. His principles are recognized as the need of the hour. The republicans are over-confident by long unbroken success and split into factions. That, combined with a realization of the failure of their policies to give the country relief in a distressful day, insures the election of democratic candidates". Urey Woodson, of Owensboro, Ky., secretary of the democratic national committee, summarized the outlook for the national election and expressed the foregoing opinion yesterday.

Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup acts gently yet promptly on the bowels and allays inflammation at the same time. It is pleasant to take. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER.

THURSDAY EVENING, MAR. 12, 1908.

THE President made a bid for the negro vote yesterday by sending to the Senate, just before the reports on the Brownsville investigation were presented, a message asking that Congress pass an act giving the President the power to reinstate such of the discharged soldiers of the Twenty-fifth Infantry who could prove that they did not take part in the "shooting up" of the Texas town. For once, at least, the President succeeded in keeping the sending in of a special message a profound secret and there was a look of blank amazement on the face of Senators Foraker, Scott, Bulkeley and Hemenway, when the communication was read before the Brownsville reports were submitted. The democrats received the message with glee and subsequently commented on the race as to who should be first to placate the negro voter. No action of the administration has brought sharper criticism than the President's order dismissing the three negro regiments, and Senator Foraker and others have used it to array the negroes against the President and Secretary Taft, with such effect that a widespread colored bolt from the republican ticket this fall is threatened, should the Secretary of War be the republican nominee. In the hope of averting this, the President, in the special message to the Senate, asked that legislation be enacted extending for a year the time within which he may restore to the army such of the dismissed colored troops as can satisfy him that they were not involved in the Brownsville shooting.

IN the nomination on Tuesday of R. M. Robinson to be postmaster at Pensacola, Fla., the President has brought to an end a situation which some Senators have characterized as "intolerable." William H. Northrup was postmaster at that place and his commission expired February 19, 1907. He was nominated for a second term January 22 of that year but his nomination was rejected by the Senate in March following. Despite this rejection the Senate was surprised to learn early in the present session that Northrup was still filling the position. On motion of Senator Taliaferro the Senate adopted a resolution, January 21, of this year, calling upon Postmaster General Meyer for an explanation. After considerable delay, Mr. Meyer replied that under the postal regulations a postmaster must continue in office until his successor has qualified and that through an error of a clerk the fact of Mr. Northrup's rejection had not been called to his attention or to that of the President so that a new nomination could be made. Mr. Meyer's answer was received by the Senate February 12, of this year, and it was not until four weeks later that the new nomination was sent in. Considerable feeling was manifested among Senators when their attention was first called to the matter because they interpreted it as another direct refusal on the part of the President to recognize the right of the Senate to "advise and consent" in the matter of appointments.

ALTHOUGH it has been denied in certain quarters, it is still asserted that Evelyn Thaw is to receive $50,000 and an annual income of $15,000 when she shall have freed herself from her husband. It is said in New York that Mrs William Thaw wants to be free for all time from Evelyn Nesbit, and that she has manipulated the proceedings by which the marriage of her son shall be broken. Mrs. William Thaw, it is reported, has agreed upon a settlement with her son's wife at the figures given above. Evelyn will receive about $50 a day, not counting Sundays and holidays. The young wife is the plaintiff in the divorce proceedings. It would seem that whatever sympathy Evelyn may have received from the world at large after her pathetic recital of alleged cruel treatment at the hands of Stanford White is destined to become obliterated after this last act in her career. She took the rash youth for better or worse, and should not have allowed a money consideration to have influenced her to instigate divorce proceedings. Her course shows plainly that she loves money more than anything else, and that while her husband languishes in an insane asylum she proposes to live as a princess out of the Thaw family purse.

IF ALL young women could see their finish when they arrive at the cross-roads of life and, after reading the sign posts, deliberately and knowingly start on the downward pike to destruction, they might, at least, "stop, look and listen." Mabel Rogers, one of thirteen children left orphans out in Red River, Canada, who became wayward at the age of fourteen, is dead. Drink, cocaine, opium and the Tenderloin of New York ended the young woman's career of the age of twenty-three. She dropped dead a night or two ago on the threshold of one of the places where she had become so well known. The music never stopped; the singer finished his cheap, sentimental song "Take her somewhere," said the proprietor, "for things like that hurt business." Hattie Ross, the negro missionary, took up a collection for the purpose of defaying the funeral expenses.

WITH a view to find work for idle men who have been making marching demonstrations in the streets of Detroit the authorities in that city decided to commence the digging of a projected canal necessitating the employment of 2,500 men. Only ten men applied for work on the canal in answer to advertisment. These applicants wanted positions as bosses, not as diggers. This Detroit experience is instructive. Apparently many of the idle people who roam the streets either prefer to be idle or they want to be set at work they are accustomed to do. There seems to be no overplus of unskilled workers in Detroit who are willing to dig, and no such distress as to compel the unemployed to the acceptance of that dread alternative.

IT IS announced at Boston that several rubber shoe factories in New England will close in the near future; 7,700 employes will be affected. This does not look like an early return of prosperity.

From Washington.

(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)

Washington, D. C., March 12.

Full realization that there is a lot of politics involved in the disposition of the Brownsville affair, seems to have come to Senators only now that the reports of the committee that made the investigation are before them for action, and legislation of some kind is called for. Both republicans and democrats find themselves facing a delicate situation through which many votes may be lost through any false step. The majority of the military committee, composed of four republicans and five democrats, have prepared a bill in accordance with the President's recommendation to restore the negroes to the civil and military rights of which they were deprived by the discharge "without honor." But Mr. Forsker also has a bill which he will offer as a substitute and which goes much further. It proposes to give them all that the administration measure offers, and, in addition, full pay for the time they have lost since discharge, besides requiring the War Department to accept from each individual soldier his mere oath that he had no part in the shooting. It is recognized that the negroes all over the country are much wrought up over the affair, and believe that a great injustice was done to the colored soldiers. They are being urged from the pulpit amd otherwise to register their disapproval at the ballot box and already the Taft boom has been affected by the fact that they hold the Secretary of War, next to the President, responsible for the discharge. In a number of northern States, especially Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and Illinois, the negro vote is a considerable factor and, for political reasons, Senators will hesitate to antagonize it. Under these circumstances, it would not be surprising if the Foraker substitute should be adopted, and the way made clear for the return to the service of all the discharged men.

After saying he would assume no responsibility for the congressional inquiry into his charges of corruption of Congress by the Electric Boat Company because the investigating committee would not act as he advised, Representative Lilley, of Connecticut, author of the charges, took the stand as a witness and said he had "little to add" to his statement made before the committee on rules ten days ago. Before testifying he read a statement. "Whether or not money has been improperly used in this matter," he said, "can be shown only by an examination of the officers and books of this company. I also say that all the other witnesses I have named will be found, on examination, to have been in the employ of this company as lobbyists, attorneys or correspondents. I have done my duty as a member of Congress to show where witnesses and exhibits can be found." To this Chairman Boutell replied by saying the committee is ordered by the House to investigate the matter and that it "does not consider Mr. Lilley as a prosecutor of anybody." The first step, he said, would be to examine Mr. Lilley as a witness. After protesting once more, Mr. Lilley was sworn as a witness, and in answer to questions reiterated the charges he had made against the company, going into details. Mr. Lilley said that Congressman Hobson had been told that the boat company could have him put on the naval committee.

The Fleet at Magdalena Bay.

San Diego, Cal., Mar. 12 —Four days ahead of schedule time, the battleship fleet, under Admiral Evans, arrived at Magdalena Bay early last night.

The vessels are ready for practice or for battle, and in spite of their voyage of 14,000 miles, they are in better shape now than when they started.

This news was brought here early this morning by wireless telegraph. The dispatches said the fleet would remain outside the harbor until daylight and then proceed to anchorage. As soon as targets can be placed work will be begun, and then the fleet will sail for San Diego.

Declaring that effective regulation of interstate railroad rates is impossible under the present laws, Representative Rufus Hardy, of Texas, a democrat, appeared yesterday before the House committee on interstate and foreign commerce and asked the enactment of a law prohibiting the railroads from charging less for a long haul than for a short haul.

Virginia News.

George T. Beall, of Sterling, and Miss Beulah Ethel Brown, daughter of Millard Brown, a well-known farmer of lower Loudoun, were married Tuesday, at the bride's home, by Rev. M. Gaither.

Announcement is made of the betrothal of Miss Ethel Langhorne Wister, a daughter of Mr. John Wister, of Philadelphia, and Mr. Arthur Mason Chichester, of Leesburg. No date has been set for the marriage.

The engagement of Miss Ethel Lemmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Southgate Lemmon, of Baltimore, to Mr. George R. Gaither, jr., of that city, is announced. Miss Lemmon is a granddaughter of the late Col. Richard Dulany, of Welbourne, Loudoun county.

It is reported that Rev. E. S. Hinks, of Boise, Idaho, has been appointed Archdeacon of Virginia by the Bishop, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. J. Poyntz Tyler, who has accepted a call to Hagerstown, and that he will accept and return to Virginia. The report cannot be confirmed, but the many friends of Mr. Hinks hope that it is wholly true.

A message received from Judge Blackstone though Douglas Smith, of Newport News, says that the reports that Judge Blackstone is to resign emanate from hostile sources and are absolutely unauthorized. Judge Blackstone says they were circulated without authority and that he will not resign under any circumstances. Judge Blackstone is now ill in a hospital in Newport News.

The appropriation bill passed this week by the legislature appropriates about $1,000,000 more than any similar law ever enacted by the legislature of Virginia. It increases by what, a few years ago, would have been regarded as vast sums for roads, for schools, for public institutions and for pensions. It provides the living expenses of the State for two years, and distributes the public money to nearly every object of which the State has the care.

Representative Lamb has introduced a bill granting a pension of $100 a month to Mrs. Pickett, widow of Gen. George E. Picket, who commanded the Confederate division which made the historic charge up Cemetery Ridge in the Battle of Gettysburg. The bill provides that Mrs. Pickett shall receive a pension of $100 a month on account of the services of her husband in the war with Mexico. She is employed in the Pension Office in Washington and has held the position for a number of years. Captain Lamb says that a number of northern women urged the introduction of the bill.

New York Stock Market.

New York, March 12.—The marked showed considerable strength during the first hour, many issues making advances in the face of heavy selling by some of the most important houses on the street. Other stocks that were under pronounced pressure were well held. The tone was hard and their failure to decline in response to the large selling caused much comment. After noon the market steadied down.

SENATE.

The Senate had a bare quorum yesterday and whenever the Richmond Torrens bill came up there was a conspicuous absence of a sufficient number of Senators to prevent a vote.

The only matter acted upon was concurrence in the House joint resolution providing for the formulation of the procedure in the Blackstone case when the legislature convenes on the 25th.

The House communicated that the amendments to the pilots bill, fixing a tax of $100 on coal shippers, had not been concurred in by that body. This action by the House practically kills the whole measure.

HOUSE.

The only fight of the day in the House was on a joint resolution introduced by Mr. C. H. Featherston of Campbell touching the fish and oyster question. The resolution was adopted.

This subject never fails to bring on a fierce conflict when presented at each legislative session. The Featherston resolution looks to securing from reliable sources outside of Tidewater Virginia definite information concerning the subject in question, whereon the members of the legislature not from Tidewater may base legislative action.

In explaining his resolution he said that his sole object was to get light on this subject of vast importance upon which he and the people of his section are profoundly ignorant.

Despite the general impression to the effect that Judge Blackstone will resign before the legislators return to consider the charges, the House yesterday passed a resolution tending to expedite the proceedings against him.

The resolution reads: "Resolved by the House of Delegates (the Senate concurring,) "That the House committee on courts of justice and the Senate committee on courts of justice, be authorized and directed to prepare and report to the general assembly on March 25 the method of procedure and rules to govern the general assembly while considering the removal from office of Hon. J. W. G. Blackstone, judge of the Eleventh circuit, the said committee to report on March 25 to their respective bodies."

The Senate later concurred in the resolution passed by the House.

Among the bills which came back to the House yesterday morning with minor amendments by the Senate, which amendments were agreed to by the House were the following, which now go to the Governor for his signature:

To appoint a matron in jails of cities of over 40,000 people.

Regulating the fees of coroner in cases of autopsy.

A bill relating to office judgments, amending section 3287 of the Code, in which a comma was out of place in the printed copy, necessitating an amendment, which was agreed on by roll call of both Houses.

Pharmacy bill, regulating the sale of drugs.

Appropriation to the Laurel Reformatory. Regulating the period of labor for those jail prisoners sentenced to work on the roads, and requiring judges and magistrates to notify the superintendent of the penitentiary of the sentence.

Increasing the fees of Commonwealth's attorneys in certain cases.

COURT OF APPEALS.

The proceedings of the Court of Appeals Tuesday were:

Southern Railway Company vs. Moore. Fully argued and submitted.

CONGRESSIONAL.

In the Senate yesterday Senator Tillman gave notice that he will speak on the Aldrich bill on Monday next, and that Senator LaFollette will speak on Tuesday, thus definitely postponing a vote on the bill another week.

Senator Clarke spoke on the Aldrich bill, and he and several other Senators debated some of the points at issue.

Senator Clarke spoke in opposition to all currency legislation, and said he would not vote for either the Aldrich bill or the Bailey substitute.

Senator Aldrich said he did not object to a provision that banks pay interest on government deposits.

In the House the pay of city mail carriers was increased during consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill, which consumed the entire day.

The House added to the postoffice appropriation bill a section prohibiting the sending of intoxicating liquors through the mails.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S QUEUE.

It Hid a Luxuriant Suit of Straight and Very Dark Hair.

The Father of his Country concealed a luxuriant suit of hair beneath his queue wig. Many now wish the old fashion were in vogue, to conceal thinned hair or baldness. Yet no one need have thin hair nor be bald, if he cure the dandruff that causes both. Dandruff can not be cured by scouring the scalp, because it is a germ disease, and the germ has to be killed. Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ—no other hair preparation will. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." There's no cure for dandruff but to kill the germ.

Japan Wants Compromise.

Pekin, Mar. 12 —It looks as if China, having called Japan's bluff in the Tatsu Maru "game," has forced the mikado to "lay down." At all events, the Japanese foreign office is doing exactly what it swore it would not do—negotiating for a compromise—and it acts as if it would be glad to get the best terms it can to "save its face."

Just why the Tokio government abandoned the unyielding attitude it assumed at first is not quite clear to diplomats here.

Gentle hints from England that arbitration would be better than warfare—at this time at least—probably had much to do with changing the foreign office's plans. Furthermore, several of the ministers did not conceal the fact that they consided the Tatsu incident to be trivial and the justice of the Japanese claims too doubtful to win the world's sympathy for the mikado in the event of an armed clash.

The Japanese cruiser Idsumah has arrived at Hong Kong and reports of activity at the Japanese navy yards continue to be received. Considering the mild tone the Japanese correspondence has assumed, however, it looks as if these warlike preparations are meant only to impress the Japanese with the foreign office's fearlessness and determination. But no one thinks the mikado will forget the incident. Many people here believe he will eventually force a quarrel with China.

Repudiated by Catholics.

St. Louis, Mar. 12.—President Roosevelt and Secretary Root have been repudiated by Catholics in China who were classed as vicious people in the exoneration of Judge Wilfley, according to a cablegram received here by Anthony Matre from very Rev. McKennely, S. J. of the Catholic St. Joseph's church at Shanghai. Rev. McKennely is national secretary of the American Federation of Catholic Societies of Shanghai. Matre is national secretary of the American Federation of Catholic societies. The cablegram follows:

"The Catholics of Shanghai, China, of all nationalities, through the Rev. M. Kennelly, S. J., pastor of St. Joseph's church, Shanghai, China, repudiate the charge of President Roosevelt and Secretary Root classifying them as vicious people as contained in the cable dispatch announcing the exonoration of Judge Wilfley as published in the North Daily China News, of March fourth. The Catholics of Shanghai renew their petition for Judge Wilfley's removal and appeal to the American Federation of Catholic Societies and to Archbishop Harty, of Manila, for support".

Shot in a Street Car.

Chicago, Mar. 12.—James McDonald complained when the sudden jolt of a car in which he was riding threw John H. Mapp, colored, against him. Mapp explained it was accidental. In the quarrel that followed McDonald, it is claimed, drew a revolver and placing it almost against the negroe's breast fired. Many women were in the car and two of them fainted. The passengers became panic-stricken, and in the confusion McDonald leaped from the car and fled. Mapp followed him. The crowd took up the pursuit and two defectives joined. The chase ended at a basement where McDonald sought refuge. Mapp ran down the stairs and fell dead at his feet. McDonald, who is 24 years old, was arrested.

Threatened by Black Hand.

Mount Vernon, O., Mar. 12.—Rev. Mulhane, of the Columbus Diocese, as pastor of St. Vincent's Catholic Church, today received this letter:

You are the next victim. The arm of the Black Hand is long and you are the next one to feel its power. You have been giving lectures of late against us, for which you are doomed to die.

BLACK HAND.

Father Mulhane says he is in no way alarmed over the letter. Father Mulhane is a noted lecturer. Last Sunday evening the priest delived a lecture in his church on "anarchy versus law."

Alfonso Back in Madrid.

Madrid, Mar. 12.—King Alfonso has returned safely from Barcelona. Queen Victoria received him with almost hysterical joy. The king spent much of yesterday aboard the flagship of the Austrian squadron at Barcelona, reviewed the troops and inspected the Atarazanas barracks late in the afternoon, and left for Madrid at 8 p. m.

The Capitol Graft Cases.

Harrisburg, Mar. 12.—The so-called "capitol graft," cases will go to the jury tomorrow. The evidence is all in, the attorneys for both sides have had their say and all that remains now in the final charge of Judge Kunkel to the jury defining the law in the case and then the 12 men will retire to their deliberations.

The Hitchcock jury was completed in New York this morning and the trial is now in progress.

LETTER TO WEIL BROS.

Alexandria, Virginia.

Dear Sirs: Suppose you are feeding pigs milk; how much will you gain by watering milk a quarter? half? three quarters?

100 quarts whole milk they sleep

80	of milk and 20	of water	they squeal
50	" 50	"	more squeal
25	" 75	"	still squeal
0	" 100	"	no squeal

Suppose you are painting a house; how much will you gain by paint adulterated a quarter? half? three-quarters?

10	gallons Devoe put-on	$50
15	" ¼ not paint	75
20	" ½ "	100
40	" ¾ "	200

The cost of paint put-on is about $5 a gallon, no matter what paint you buy.

But nobody really gets 40 gallons on a 10-gallon job; so nobody really pays $200 for painting a $50 job; he stops at about $100. Two coats of ¼-paint-and-¼-trash doesn't make a good job; nor three; nor four.

These lessons are useful.

Sixtieth Congress.

Washington, Mar. 12

SENATE.

The Senate passed the House bill, with amendments, increasing the pensions of widows of the civil, Mexican and Indian wars from $8 to $12 per month.

Senator Tillman offered a resolution which proposes an investigation by the Senate finance committee on a number of important subjects. It is as follows:

Resolved, That the committee on finance is hereby instructed to inquire and report:

First, Whether the national banks in the city of New York and elsewhere are in the habit, under the guise of commercial loans, of furnishing permanent capital for speculative or other enterprises, and if so, what legislation is necessary to prevent a continuance of such practice.

Second, Whether the Treasury Department had knowledge of the loans made by the National Bank of North America of New York city which are the subject of a suit by the receiver of said bank against Charles W. Morse, and of other similar transactions in other national banks.

Third, Whether national banks are now engaged, by themselves or through other organizations, in attempting to control or dictate the legislation of Congress upon currency matters.

Fourth, The committee is further instructed to ascertain what, if any, legislation is necessary to discourage or prevent the habit of persons holding the office of Comptroller of the Currency and other Treasury officers from making their offices a stepping stone to employment by national banks.

Fifth, Whether national banks are using trust companies or other financial associations as dummy agencies through which to transact business forbidden by the law governing national banks, and what legislation is necessary to prevent such an evasion of the statutes.

Sixth, Whether the national banks in New York city lent their credit to the stockbrokers by the certification or acceptance of checks during the years 1906 and 1907 and report whether or not such transactions involved any violation of the provisions of section 5200 of the revised statutes as to making excess loans."

In presenting his resolution and asking that it lie on the table until Monday, when he will discuss it, Mr. Tillmann, explained that he had for several years been trying "to insert the probe into the Treasury Department," and that he had been balked by the committee on finance, which smothered his resolutions. He expressed the hope that the chairman of the committee (Aldrich) "would be less suspicious of my efforts to get light."

During the financial debate in the Senate this afternoon Senator Lodge, defended the administrations bond issue to meet the panic.

Senator Nelson has decided to press consideration of his plan to charge bank interest on public deposits. He introduced an amendment in the Senate this afternoon, to later be offered to the financial bill, placing such interest at two per cent. on weekly balances.

In order to provide for the safety of pleasure seekers in San Francisco harbor when the "battle fleet" reaches there, the Senate passed a bill enlarging existing law relating to regulations of regattas so as to include marine parades. Under its provisions the Secretary of Commerce is given authority to make proper regulations and providing penalities ranging from revocation of license to a fine of $250 to any other person aboard the vessel violating the regulations.

HOUSE.

The penumatic tube mail service stirred up a lively discussion in the House today. On a point of order the entire appropriation was knocked out of the postoffice appropriation bill only to be reinserted in a different form. By the change thus effected, the postmaster general may install new service to the extent of $1,338,759 annually.

Penny postage on letters between points on the same rural route is provided for in a bill introduced by Mr. Griggs.

POLICE JUSTICE.

The following was the opinion of Corporation Attorney S. B. Fisher on the legality of the position of Police Justice of the city of Alexandria, submitted to the City Council last Tuesday night.

Alexandria, Va., Feb. 11, 1908.

Henry K. Field, Esq.,
Chairman Committee on General Laws.

Dear Sir: In regard to the resolution concerning the legality of the appointment of a Police Justice for the city of Alexandria, I beg leave to submit the following is my opinion.

That the Police Justice for the city of Alexandria was appointed by an order of the Judge of the Corporation Court of the city of Alexandria, passed on the 11th day of January, 1904, and entered upon the discharge of his duties as such on the 1st day of February, 1904.

The appointment was made under and by virtue of the authority of an act of the General Assembly approved December 31, 1903 (acts of Assembly 1902-3-4, p. 865).

The said act contains this proviso, viz: "Provided, that no such appointment shall be made in any city whereby the present terms of its charter, the jurisdiction, and powers conferred upon Police Justices by this act, are conferred upon the Mayor of such city, unless the council thereof, shall by resolution, request that such appointment be made." The said act further provides that, "This act shall be in force from its passage."

Had the City Council of Alexandria by resolution requested said appointment, there could be no question of the legality of the appointment. I shall therefore proceed upon the assumption that the appointment was made without the request of Council, which I am informed is correct.

Since by the act the request of council for an appointment is required only in a "city whereby the present terms of its charter, the jurisdiction, and powers conferred upon Police Justices by this act, are conferred upon the Mayor of such city," it is therefore necessary to ascertain if the jurisdiction and powers conferred upon Police Justices by said act were conferred upon the Mayor of the city of Alexandria, by the terms of its charter on the 31st day of December, 1903, the date when the said act went into effect.

The jurisdiction and powers conferred upon Police Justices by the said act are as follows, viz: "The Police Justices so appointed shall hold office for the term of four years, and until their successors are appointed and qualified, and shall be conservators of the peace within the corporate limits of the city for which they are appointed, respectively, and within one mile beyond the corporate limits of such cities, and within such limits shall have exclusive original jurisdiction for the trial of all offenses against the ordinances of the respective cities for which they shall be appointed, and shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the corporation or hustings court of such cities in all cases of violations of the revenue laws of the State and of offenses arising under the provisions of chapter one hundred and eighty-seven, and of sections thirty-eight hundred and one, thirty-eight hundred and two, thirty-eight hundred and three and thirty-eight hundred and four of the Code of Virginia, and except when it is otherwise especially provided shall have exclusive original jurisdiction for the trial of all other misdemeanor cases occurring within their jurisdiction; and in addition thereto, shall, in all offenses against the laws of this commonwealth, possess the jurisdiction and exercise all the powers conferred upon justices of the peace and Police Justices by the laws of this State, in all of which cases the punishment may be the same as the Mayor of any such city or the corporation or hustings court thereof are authorized to impose."

Section 34 of the charter of the city of Alexandria provided, among other, that the Mayor of the city of Alexandria "shall have and exercise all powers of a justice of the peace within the said city."

The territorial jurisdiction of the Mayor of the city of Alexandria, as conferred by the terms of its charter, is confined within the limits of said city, while the territorial jurisdiction of a Police Justice appointment under said act, is within and one mile beyond the corporate limits of the city, therefore, since the territorial jurisdiction conferred upon a Police Justice by said act was not conferred upon the Mayor of the city of Alexandria by the terms of its charter, I am of the opinion that the said appointment was legal.

In view of said opinion I deem it unnecessary to report upon the respective jurisdictions of the subject matter.

SAMUEL P. FISHER,
Corporation Attorney.

A Lesson In Grammar.

In a certain mountainous region the teachers are appointed with little question concerning their grammatical orthodoxy. Occasionally, however, a wave of school reform sweeps through the valleys, and undesired examinations are thrust upon embarrassed pedagogues.

It was during one of these periods of intellectual discomfort that the following sentence was given: "The bird flew over the house." Accompanying it was the query, "Is 'flew' a regular or an irregular verb?"

One teacher after another shook his head hopelessly despite the slow, thought inspiring fashion in which the examiner repeated the perplexing fact that "The — bird — flew — over — the — house."

Finally a man rose in the rear, and, with the assurance of one who puts his trust in logic and a practical knowledge of natural history, he volunteered a solution. Said he:

"If that bird which flew over the house was a wild goose, it went in a straight, regular line, so the verb is regular. But if it was a peckwood that flew over the house, then it went in a crooked, zigzag line, and so the verb is irregular."

All but the grammar bound examiner were satisfied with this sensible and rational explanation. — Youth's Companion.

Artistic Slips.

It is a frequent matter of lamentation on the part of artists that one of their number may spend genius and time on a piece of work, only to fall conspicuously in small detail.

There is a story that one Royal academician gave a hand five fingers and a thumb and that another painted a live lobster bright red.

The clever Goodall had been engaged in painting a number of laborers dragging a huge stone across the desert when a man of science entering the studio said to him: "I say, Goodall, if you want those fellows to pull that stone you must double their number. It would require just twice as many for the task."

But it is not modern painters alone who slip up on points of accuracy. Even Albrecht Durer in a scene representing Peter denying Christ painted one of the Roman soldiers in the act of smoking. Turner put a rainbow beside the sun, and in another picture he got fearfully tangled in the ship's rigging.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Fixing a Photografter.

Senator Stone of Missouri once made himself unpopular with a certain photographer. The latter individual appeared at the senator's room at the capitol and announced that he was there to take a picture. Stone expostulated, but in vain. A few days later the photographer again appeared and presented the pictures and also a bill for $10. Remembering how hopeless was his argument against having the picture taken, Senator Stone decided it would be still more useless for him to decline to pay for them. So he wrote a check. After the man's name was on the check he wrote the word "Photografter."

When the man presented the check at the senate disbursing office for payment, he was required to indorse the check and write after his name, just as it was written on the face of the check, the word "Photo-grafter."—St. Louis Republic.

A Limit to His Power.

A curious historical anecdote is handed down from the time of James I. James, being in want of £20,000, applied to the corporation for a loan. The corporation refused. The king insisted. "But, sire, you cannot compel us," said the lord mayor. "No," exclaimed James, "but I'll ruin you and the city forever. I'll remove my courts of law, my court itself and my parliament to Winchester or to Oxford and make a desert of Westminster, and then think what will become of you!" "May it please your majesty," replied the lord mayor, "you are at liberty to remove yourself and your courts to wherever you please; but, sire, there will always be one consolation to the merchants of London—your majesty cannot take the Thames along with you!"

Garrick's Wit.

David Garrick on one occasion passed Tyburn as a huge crowd was assembling to witness the execution of a criminal. "Who is he?" asked the great actor of a friend who accompanied him.

"I believe his name is Vowel," was the reply.

"Ah," said Garrick, "I wonder which of the vowels he is, for there are several. At all events it is certain that it is neither U nor I!"—London Saturday Review.

Quite Natural.

"Of course," said the tourist, "you know all about the antidotes for snake bite?"

"Certainly," replied the explorer.

"Well, when a snake bites you what's the thing you do?"

"Yell."—Philadelphia Press.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved.

B. F. Crocker, Esq., now 84 years of age, and for twenty years Justice of the Peace at Martinsburg, Iowa, says: "I am terribly afflicted with sciatic rheumatism in my left arm and right hip. I have used three bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it did me lots of good." For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

DeWitt's Little Early Rivers, small, safe, sure little liver pills. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

The Buckboard.

"There are few persons who know how the name of 'buckboard' came to be applied to a vehicle," says a writer. "It was away back in the twenties, when the transportation of goods, wares and merchandise was almost entirely by wagon. A Dr. Buck was then in charge of military stores en route to army posts in the southwest. In east Tennessee much difficulty was experienced by reason of the rough roads, and there were frequent mishaps, mostly from wagons overturning. Dr. Buck overhauled the outfit, and, abandoning the wagon bodies, long boards were set directly on the axles or hung below, and the stores were loaded in such a manner that there were no further delays from breakdowns, and the stores safely reached their destinations. In special emergency, too, the load could be shifted or taken off in a hurry. Dr. Buck's example was followed, especially when roads were rough, and soon much hauling was done by the use of wheels, axles and boards only. Now we have the buckboard, both in carriage and automobile forms, conforming closely to the original idea, though few suspect the source of it."—Chicago News.

Technical Swearing.

The late Sir John Millais was a very keen fisherman. He used to tell a story of an old man who was his attendant during a day's sport in the north of England. The old man was full of local gossip and small scandal, and where the natural supply failed him he was clearly able to manufacture enough of his own to go on with. "I were out with the bishop yesterday," said the old man, referring to a popular church dignitary, who is also a good fisherman. "Ah," replied Millais, "he's a good man!" "Well," continued the old fellow, "'e may be, but 'e do swear a bit when 'e's fishin'." "Oh, nonsense!" replied Millais. "I don't believe that." The old man insisted that he was right, however. "I'll give you an instance," he said. "I was standin' 'longside o' the bishop, same as I might be aside o' you, and 'e'd got a big fellow at the end of 'is line that was pretty nigh pullin' 'im off 'is feet, and I turns to 'is lordship and I says, ''E pulls —— 'ard, don't he?' and the bishop says, 'Yes, 'e do.' Well, now, ain't that swearin'?"—London M. A. P.

St. Patrick and the Roosters.

St. Patrick's reputation as a snake charmer is known all the world over, but what he did to the roosters is a bit of history less disseminated. There is a small district in the heart of County Sligo, it seems, which strenuously resented the intrusion of the Scotchman. Succat (St. Patrick) had become exceedingly domineering, and it was decided to put a damper on his progress. He said to his hostess, "Wake me when the cock crows." When he had gone to bed she whispered this command to the neighbors, and all the populace concealed their roosters under small creels so they could not lift their heads high enough to crow. In consequence thereof the saint overslept himself and was furious when he discovered the trick that had been played on him. He laid his everlasting curse on the roosters of that district, and they have never crowed since.—Exchange.

The Number Fourteen In France.

So far as France is concerned, it is the number fourteen that has played a conspicuous and generally portentous part in her history. On May 14, 1554, the Rue de la Ferronnerie was enlarged by order of Henri II., and four times fourteen years later Henri IV. was assassinated there by Ravaillac—namely, on May 14, 1610. Henri had lived four times fourteen years, fourteen weeks and four times fourteen days—i. e., fifty-six years and five months. Then Henri's son, Louis XIII., died May 14, 1643 (the same day and month as his fathers). And 1643 added together equals fourteen, just as 1553 (the year of the birth of Henri IV.) equals fourteen. Louis XIV ascended the throne 1643, which added together equals fourteen and similarly the year of his death (1715) equals.

The Doctor at Sea.

A veteran naval surgeon speaking of the odd things that crop out in the service, said that one of the younger medical cranks in the navy discovered much virtue in sea water, and no matter what disease came on his first action was to throw down the patient's throat a large dose of the nauseating liquid. The crew soon learned to hate him thoroughly. In process of time he fell overboard in a choppy sea, and a great bustle ensued. In the midst of it the captain came up and anxiously inquired the cause. "Oh, nothing, sir," replied a tar, "only the doctor has fell into his medicine chest!"

Fooling the Youngster.

"Mother," said Mr. Popley guardedly to his wife, "why not take the y-o-u-n-g-s-t-e-r to the m-a-t-i-n-e-e tomorrow?"

"Pa," chimed in the youngster quietly, "there's only one 't' in 'matinee.'"

Advice to a Wife.

Advice is often too good to be taken, but a very agreeable variety was once given by James Russell Lowell to a young woman about to be married. "Always give your husband—your own way."

How He Did It.

"When I was connected with a certain western railway," says a prominent official of an eastern line, "we had in our employ a brakeman who, for special service rendered to the road, was granted a month's vacation.

"He decided to spend his time in a trip over the Rockies. We furnished him with passes.

"He went to Denver and there met a number of his friends at work on one of the Colorado roads. They gave him a good time and when he went away made him a present of a mountain goat.

"Evidently our brakeman was at a loss to get the animal home with him as the express charges were very heavy at that time. Finally, however, hitting upon a happy expedient, he made out a shipping tag and tied it to the horns of the goat. Then he presented the beast to the office of the stock car line.

"Well, that tag created no end of amusement, but it served to accomplish the end of the brakeman. It was inscribed as follows:

"'Please pass the butter. Thomas J. Meechin, brakeman, S. S. and T. Ry.'"—Harper's Weekly.

Ant Merchants.

Ant merchants, clad in leather underwear, are to be found in Paris, London and several other European cities. Wherever pheasants are preserved the ant merchant is in demand.

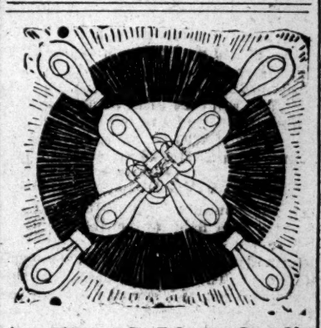

It is not, however, ants, but the eggs of ants, that the man chiefly deals in. From every part of Europe ants are shipped to him, and he keeps them in ant runs—places similar in their nature to chicken runs—and he feeds and tends them carefully, so that their health will keep fine and they will lay generously.

The eggs he packs in wooden boxes and ships to various earls, dukes, counts and other game preserves in different parts of the world. And the ants themselves he slays as soon as they cease to lay, pressing them and selling them in black blocks similar to plug tobacco to dealers in birds and bird food.

It is interesting to be an ant merchant, but leather underwear is essential to the business, as the little creatures bite unmercifully.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.
